TASTING NOTES

Pinot Grigio is the most beloved of all Italian white wines. Borgo Magredo Pinot Grigio, made with 100% estate-owned grapes, is bright, bouncy and open-knit, with a citrus-infused flavor profile and lively acidity. Hints of white peach, ground ginger and honey are layered on the finish. Very versatile, it can be paired with appetizers, salads, fried or grilled calamari, seafood pastas and light seafood fares.

ABOUT THE WINERY

With approx. 200 hectares of vineyards in the Grave del Friuli DOC appellation, Borgo Magredo is one of the largest estates in Friuli. Acquired by the Genagricola group in 1989, Borgo Magredo grew over the years to achieve the perfect combination of century-old enological culture and contemporary drinking style.

After a thorough study to identify which clones were best suited for the particular soil, vines were gradually replanted according to modern logic and it proved possible to valorize both the vines and the territory's uniqueness.

The Grave area is known for its meager soil, hence the word 'Magredo', made of gravel and stones carried to the vineyards by the Meduna River. Additionally, the unique microclimate, with cool-warm temperature cycles over the vineyards contribute to the aroma, flavor and fragrance of the wines. Equipped with the most refined technologies for winemaking and refining, Borgo Magredo now offers a variety of products at affordable prices and with charming packaging. Since 2014, famous enologist Riccardo Cottarella oversees the production.
