

TENUTA
SANT'ANNA
CUVÉE ROSÉ
SPUMANTE BRUT

WINERY	Tenuta Sant'Anna
WINE	Cuvée Rosé Spumante Rosato Brut
REGION	Veneto
VARIETAL	70% Pinot Nero, 30% Merlot
ALTITUDE	30–45 meters above sea level
TYPE OF PLANTING	Traditional
SOIL	Medium blend with clay-like tendency
VINIFICATION	Harvested grapes are de-stemmed and crushed gently. The must is transferred into steel vats for fermentation where it comes into contact with the grape skins that gives it a light coloring. The resulting rose' wine then goes through a second fermentation in pressurized stainless steel tanks for at least 40 days and transformed into a sparkling with thorough the so-called Charmat method.
ALCOHOL CONTENT	11.5%
OENOLOGIST	Riccardo Cottarella (consulting enologist)

TASTING NOTES

Intense pink color with vigorous, crystalline and dense perlage that creates a fragrant creamy rose-colored froth. There are scents of roses, wild strawberries and red currants on the nose. This sparkling wine is well-balanced, full-bodied, pleasantly acidic, and mellow on the palate. It is wonderful as an aperitif but it also goes well with all dishes. It is a bold accompaniment either with savory appetizers or first courses with meat, or even for the more adventurous, with pizza!

ABOUT THE WINERY

Tenuta Sant'Anna is the historical heart of Tenute di Genagricola (Montcalm's mother company) and the best known and longest standing of the groups' brands.

Founded in the early 60's, Tenuta Sant'Anna was one of the first viticultural properties acquired by Genagricola and ever since the 1970's it has been stretching the limits of innovation. Equipped with the latest technology along with professional competence and know-how, the winery soon became one of the most prominent protagonists of the Italian wine-making scene. The estate, which lies some 50 km east of Venice, covers 150 hectares, 140 of which are dedicated to vine growing.

The year 2015 heralded big changes for Genagricola with hiring famous winemaker Riccardo Cottarella as consulting enologist and by giving its brands a fresh new look.

www.tenutasantanna.it